Why on earth are we here?
How can we better shape our personal & community lives in these challenging times?
Our lives are acts of social creation.

Join us for insights into how our biography informs our future and how to shape the organizations we work within to make our lives more joyful and efficient.

Christopher and Signe Schaefer have been active with Anthroposophy and Waldorf education for over forty years. They both taught for many years at Sunbridge College, where Chris was also active in development and as Director of a program in Waldorf School Administration and Community Development, and Signe was Director of Foundation Studies. Chris also worked as an organization development consultant for many years, including work with over 50 Waldorf Schools in North America. Signe founded the Biography and Social Art program, first at Sunbridge, and now offering its sixth three-year cycle as part of The Center for Biography and Social Art. Since retiring from their full-time commitments, they have been helping the developing Waldorf movement in China.

These events are hosted by the Seattle Branch of the Anthroposophical Society.

There will be no charge for these talks.
